

Make a note now: 10th ROTOR live 2019 on 9 and 10 March 2019

In 2010 the ROTOR live fair opened her doors for the first time! The decision to create a trade fair especially for model helicopters proved to be logical. In addition to a constantly growing number of exhibitor stands, the number of spectators also rose over the years, and ROTOR live became increasingly international. And the numerous guests who have visited the trade fair since its premiere prove that the trade fair always leaves a lasting impression on all visitors, pilots and exhibitors.

Next year we are pleased to welcome all RC helicopter enthusiasts to the tenth edition of this worldwide unique, popular helicopter trade fair. For two days, everything at the international racecourse in Iffezheim near Baden-Baden will once again revolve around model helicopters. In addition to manufacturers and specialist dealers from home and abroad with many latest novelties, the programme will be enriched by the all-day moderated flight show. Many international pilots have already registered, who will not only present new models during the flight programme, but will also heat up the audience with spectacular flights.

A further component of the trade fair are the workshops on a wide variety of topics spread over both days of the event - be it on engines and technology, setting tips or interesting background information on manufacturers. One lecture will involve the extremely interesting 25-year company history of the helicopter manufacturer Henseleit Helicopters; in addition, exhibitors such as Hacker, Mikado, MTTEC and AVIrem will offer lectures and workshops.

In 2019 there will also be an indoor area, which will not only offer space for the presentation of indoor models, but will also once again be the arena for our youngest pilots. At the Kids-Copter-Challenge young pilots compete with their Racecopters for the fastest laps - and of course for great prizes. In addition, Graupner presents the concept behind the Sweeper Droneballs - a new competition class that demands proper teamwork.

For all those interested, the fair offers a great opportunity to make direct contact with manufacturers and dealers, find out about new products - or simply talk to the top pilots about training tips. And our model exhibition with large, impressive scale models also offers the opportunity to find out about the background to building the "big ones" and to get in touch with the model builders.

You will find further information about the fair, directions and an overview of all exhibitors on our homepage www.rotor-live.de. Are you on Facebook? Then visit us at www.facebook.com/ROTORlive, where you will always find the latest information about the trade fair.

We look forward to seeing you at Europe's largest trade fair for model helicopters!
